Staff will review and formally make a recommendation of action to City Council at a later date.

City of Savannah

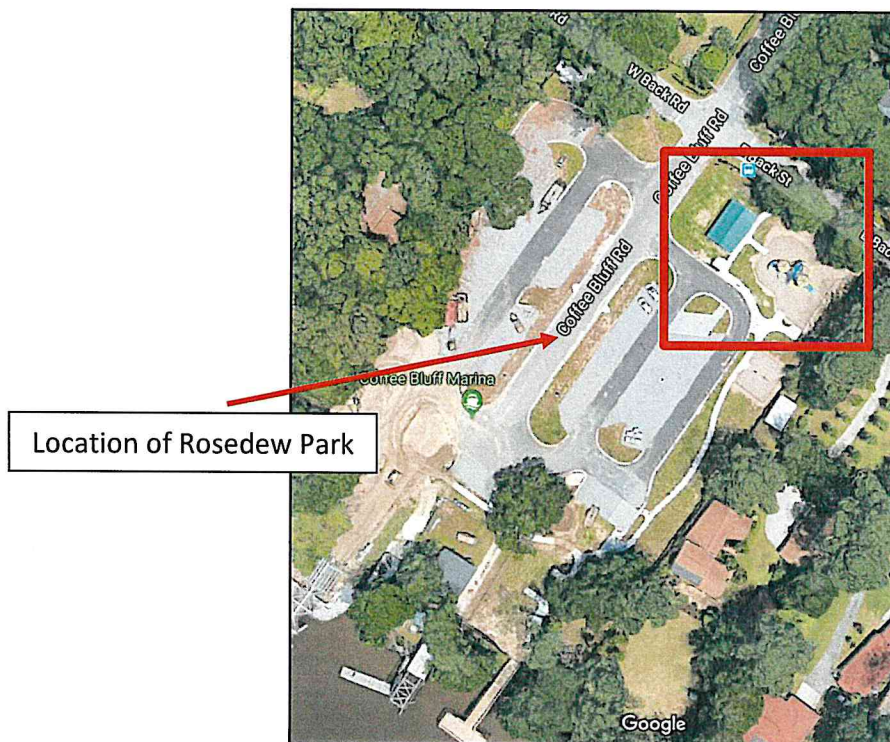

A Brief History of the Coffee Bluff Marina Property

"Map of Grant Ward, Lee Ward, and a part of Falligant Ward in the Town of Rosedew... Said Town of Rosedew being Dr. L. A. Falligant's Subdivisions of the Coffee Bluff Plantation on the Little Ogeechee river in Chatham County, Ga.," (4 July 1887), 4H-108, Chatham County Engineer's Office.

The addresses now known as 14915 and 14918 Coffee Bluff Road were laid out as part of Dr. L. A. Falligant's subdivision known as the Town of Rosedew (also known as Rose Dhu). The Chatham County Engineer's Office maintains a map from 1887 that shows portions of Rosedew, including Grant Ward, Lee Ward, and Falligant Ward, along the Little Ogeechee River and Front Street (Front Street is now under water). What is now known as Coffee Bluff Road was originally called Rosedew Avenue. At Back Street, Rosedew Avenue hit Rosedew Park and stopped. On either side of the park was a Park Place, Park Place East and Park Place West. Coffee Bluff Road now cuts straight through what was intended as Rosedew Park.

The legal description of 14915 Coffee Bluff Road is Lot 1 Falligant Ward. The legal description of 14918 Coffee Bluff Road is Lot 10 and the west part of Lot 9 Lee Ward, as well as Park Place East. In 2008, the Savannah City Council approved the acquisition of the property (by then known as the Coffee Bluff Marina after development by Rosso Corsa Inc.) to ensure public access to the Forest River (also known as the Little Ogeechee River). The City of Savannah currently maintains these properties as the Coffee Bluff Marina. Within the marina property is the Herbert R. "Herbie" Battise Fishing Pier, and a picnic pavilion and playground indicated in the aerial photograph below.

Hi Joe,

Amanda did a great job of pulling together some biographical information for me on Dr. Louis A. Falligant (see her online resources in the email below). In addition to those she provided, you can also keyword search "falligant" in those on our own website here:

A History of the City Government of Savannah, Ga., from 1790 to 1901

Compiled from Official Records by Thomas Gamble, Jr., Secretary to the Mayor, Under Direction of the City Council, 1900.

This provides a general overview history of City government and Falligant is mentioned a few times as an Alderman.

Index of Mayors and Aldermen, 1790-2012

City of Savannah Administrations, 1790-2012

Prepared by the City of Savannah, Research Library & Municipal Archives

(the top link takes you to an alphabetical list by Alderman's name; the second to a chronological listing by administration)

Annual Reports of the Mayor of Savannah

<http://dlg.galileo.usg.edu/savannahmayor/date.php>

I searched 1855-1903 and years that I had relevant hits were 1880, 1889, 1890, 1895, 1897, 1898, 1902, 1903

Falligant was definitely an influential local leader, particularly as it relates to medicine and as a City servant/elected official. Here is a summary of his City service:

City Health Officer:

- 1862-1863

City of Savannah Alderman:

- January 21, 1889 - January 26, 1891 (Vice Chairman of Council 1889-1890)
- January 28, 1895 - February 1, 1897

As Alderman:

- served as a Sanitary Commissioner 1895-1896
- 1889: served on committees on Assessments, City Lots, Drainage, Health & Cemetery
- 1890: served on committees on City Lots, Drainage
- 1895: served on committees on Drainage, Health & Cemetery, Streets & Lanes
- On the Drainage Committee, addressed house drainage issues

Falligant Ward (bounded by Anderson on the north, Bull on the east, 34th on the south, and Barnard on the west) starts appearing in the 1897 annual report with a lot of activity (it was laid out on February 24, 1886; see <http://www.savannahga.gov/DocumentCenter/View/8819/SavannahCityCode1888?bidId=>, City Code 1888 page 301), and in the 1898 report it is mentioned that Dr. Falligant has dedicated property in Barney and Gaillard wards to the City. The 1902 and 1903 annual reports make mention of property transactions between Falligant and the City. It is apparent that Falligant was a very large property owner within the City limits and in the area where the City was expanding at the turn of the 20th century.

So, this is just a quick rundown of our research. If you need something formal, let me know and give me a deadline.
Thanks, Luciana

Google Books led me to A History of Savannah and South Georgia, Volume 2 pages 679-681. It features a feature a great biographical sketch of Dr. LA Falligant (Louis Alexander). He was born in Augusta in 1836 and died at his home in Savannah July 5, 1903. His wife was Rosa Oliver (Brown) Falligant. He had 9 brothers and sisters, which included Judge Robert Falligant. Dr. LA Falligant served as an Alderman of Savannah, City Health Officer and considered a hero in Savannah during the Yellow Fever epidemic.

The following list represents some online info I found on Dr. LA Falligant:

- The website Find a Grave has a photo of Dr. LA Falligant's headstone

- Dr. Falligant is considered a father of Georgia's medical homeopathy <http://www.homeoint.org/history/king/1-24.htm>
- In 1882, Dr. Falligant served on Savannah's Board of Sanitary Commissioners

I'll search for some more things tomorrow.

Hi Amanda,

Can you do some research for me online and see what you can track down on the man identified in the attached map from 1887 (Dr. LA Falligant)? I'm looking for biographical information on him, obits, newspaper articles, etc., that might tell us something about what kind of person he was. Anything you can find would be helpful. If you are unsuccessful online, perhaps you can reach out to Sharen Lee at Bull Street.

Alderman Thomas,

Please see the attached brief from Municipal Archives on the proposed Falligant Ward Park.

Let's discuss after you have an opportunity to review the attached information.

Thanks

Hi Joe,

Attached, please find a brief summary of the history of the Coffee Bluff Marina, including the corner in question. Based on our research and my discussions with Greenscapes staff I am making the following two recommendations:

1. Dr. L. A. Falligant did set aside park space in the middle of his subdivision. Unfortunately, that park has since been taken over by Coffee Bluff Road and the existing parking for the marina. The park area that is now under consideration for naming though is just adjacent to the original park space, and I recommend honoring Falligant's original park name, "Rosedew Park." If the use of the Falligant name is extremely important (though it is in the ward there), I would recommend Rosedew-Falligant Park or naming the picnic pavilion Falligant Pavillion.
2. Jim Shirley in Greenscapes said that the picnic pavilion is considered part of the park with the playground, so I would encourage that the larger park area be named. So, perhaps Rosedew Park with the Falligant Pavillion in it.

Let me know if you have any additional questions.

Luciana

Luciana,

Heath forwarded me a request from Alderman Thomas to begin working on naming an unnamed park within the Coffee Bluff Marina property to Falligant Ward Park.

Alderman Thomas believes the land was donated to the City by the Falligant family. I was hoping you may be able to find some evidence of that fact.

A lot going on right now, so it would be great if you could look into it by end of the year, maybe January 1.

Let me know if that's doable.

Thanks,
